DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-6 are pending examination

Specification

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following title is suggested: Method of Repelling Arthropods.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Snyder (US 6,063,771).

Snyder discloses formulations comprising spinosyn (abstract). The composition is used to control lice in humans (column 2, lines 27-43). Natural pyrethrins are also taught to be used for the control of lice (column 1, lines 60-67). Spinosyn and natural pyrethrins may be combined and formulated as shampoos, lotions or conditioners (column 4, lines 5-20).

Art Unit: 1616

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Snyder (US 6,063,771) in view of Knauf et al. (2002/0061928).

Applicant's Invention

Applicant claims the method controlling arthropods as discussed above. The specific arthropods are selected from ticks, fleas, midges or flies.

Determination of the scope and the content of the prior art

(MPEP 2141.01)

The teachings of Snyder are addressed in above 102(b) rejection.

Ascertainment of the difference between the prior art and the claims

(MPEP 2141.02)

Snyder does not teach ticks, fleas, midges or flies. It is for this reason that Knauf et al. is joined.

Knauf et al. teach that pyrethroids are used with chloronicotinyl insecticides for controlling sucking pests, such as, thrips, ticks and lice [0002] and [0011].

Finding of prima facie obviousness

Rationale and Motivation (MPEP 2142-2143)

Art Unit: 1616

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to combine the teachings of Snyder and Knauf et al. to utilize the method of controlling ticks, thrips and other sucking pests. One would have been motivated to utilize this method because Knauf et al. teaches that pyrethroids in combination with nicotinyl insecticides are known to control sucking pests.
